of Closing Show

PALACE TO REOPEN JANUARY 1

As a fitting climax of the season's final boxing show to be held at the Antioch Palace, Friday night, Promoter Dick Macek has arranged a windup bout between two popular top-notchers in the amateur game that promises to be the highlight of all contests staged in the local arena since its opening a year and a half ago. The principals in this superb bout are "Red" McDowell, popular Waukegan scrapper, and Bob Miller, Northwestern university star. Box office patrons at the Palace have long waited the matching of this pair, and their hopes of seeing them together in the ring will be realized Friday night.

Palace to Close

Due to uncertain weather conditions at this season of the year and the recent rulings of the Illinois Athletic commission, which will force many amateur promoters out of business, Manager Macek has decided to hold no boxing shows during the remainder of November and December. By that time many of the difficulties with the Commission are expected to be ironed out and January 1 is expected to see the re-opening of the Palace under more favorable boxing commission rulings, at which time Promoter Macek will bring to the local ring an all star card to celebrate the opening of the new year.

All Star Card Friday

Supporting the feature windup Friday night between McDowell and Miller, Promoter Macek and Matchmaker Wallenwein have arranged an all-star program of preliminaries, without doubt one of the best aggregations of amateur talent ever brought to the local ring. Two new faces will be seen Friday night. Frank Wald, Grand Rapids, Mich., will be in the ring with Johnny Hughes, Kenosha bantam weight, in the third preliminary, and Jack DePine, another new fighting face, from Chi., will square off before the grim visage of Angelo Garlow, Kenosha, in the first half of the double windup.

Ernie Kratchvill, with two victories to his credit in succession, will be out to upset the dope and defeat All Reese, Chicago, in the semi-windup. Kratchvill appears to be improving in every bout and Reese, who packs a kno wallop, will have to be at his best.

Julius Richmond, of Allendale Farm, Lake Villa, and a student in Antioch Township High school, will be the first boy from Lake county to ever exhibit at the International Live Stock show, which is to be held in Chicago from November 30 to December 7. Julius will exhibit his sheep which he has raised in 4-H club work, and will be the only 4-H club entry from Lake county at the International.

The preliminary exhibitors' list of entries indicates that there will be more stock exhibited this year than ever before. Over 12,000 head of cattle will be shown. Besides live stock and judging, there will be educational exhibits which promise to be very instructive and fascinating.

HOMER EDWARDS' IS CHOSEN ILLINOIS POULTRY CHAMPION

Honor Entitles Him To Attend National Club Congress in Chicago

More state-wide recognition has come to Homer Edwards, Antioch, according to State 4-H Club Leader C. E. Pichard, of the University of Illinois, who recently declared him this year's 4-H Poultry Champion of the state. This is the second time in two years that he has won that distinction.

To Attend Nat. Club Congress

As the result of this selection, Homer has the privilege to attend the exclusive National 4-H Live Stock Exposition in Chicago during the week of December 1st to the 6th, with all expenses paid by the Public Utilities corporation. There he will associate with winners of the entire nation, only state champions being permitted to attend this congress. Included in the week's program of events are trips to the packing houses and the International Harvester Co., and a banquet to be given in honor of the champions at the Morrison hotel on December 4, at which time they will be presented with gold medals by their respective states. C. E. Glickerson, Farm Bureau Extension Specialist, of Grayslake, and C. L. Kuttel, local club leader, have been invited to attend the Morrison hotel banquet.

Illinois Sends 24 Club Champions

Illinois will send about 24 club champions to this congress, one for each of the projects undertaken by 4-H club work in the state. Some of those projects are dairy calf, beef calf, pig club, alfalfa club, sewing club, room improvement club, and many others. A total of about one thousand boys and girls between the ages of ten and twenty are expected to attend the National Four H Club congress this year.

Homer, who has been an outstanding youth in the development of the Future Farmers' association of Illinois, has the distinction of being the first president of the state organization of boys who are taking agriculture in high schools in the state.

Scoring a triumph for himself as well as for his school, John Tellaisha, of Lake Villa, a student in the Antioch Township High school, is one of the 160 youths who have been chosen because of their talent to play in the second annual concert of the Illinois All-State High School orchestra at Urbana Saturday.

Presented as a feature of the program of the annual conference of high school teachers, which is being held at the home of the University of Illinois today, tomorrow, and Saturday, this concert will be attended by more than 800 teachers from all parts of the state.

Rehearsals for the orchestra, which will be directed by Ray Dvorak, assistant to the director of the University of Illinois band, and the one who is responsible for the Illinois band's entertainment between halves of football games, will conduct the orchestra.

Farmers Are Well Protected, Land Owner Declares

A Lake county land owner directs attention to published reports that there are more crimes and loss fires this year than last and previous years, and calls attention to a story in the Chicago Tribune of Monday, Nov. 18, in which a similar condition is reported in Cook county.

"They all pity the poor farmer," he says. "I live near Grass Lake and have a farm but I hear no complaints from farmers. The roads and fields are lined with deputes, all worrying about the poor farmer and his hen coots. If the Lake county sheriff will call off a few hundred of his deputes the farmers will have less to worry about," he concludes.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Sabla returned home yesterday afternoon, after spending five weeks in Pasadena, California, and other western points. They went via the Santa Fe route, while their homeward trip was made on southern highways. They report an enjoyable time.

CHINDBLOM SAYS HE WILL BE CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Congressman States Attitude in Letter to Lake County Friend

COL. SMITH STILL UNDECIDED

Congressman Carl R. Chindblom, who has served the tenth district for more than ten years, will be a candidate for re-election, according to a letter received this week by a Lake county friend of the congressman. Congressman Chindblom is said to have stated he would not let an election campaign interfere with his duties at Washington, but that he expected to be home into this month, intending to return to Washington December 2, for the opening of the regular session of congress.

State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county, whose candidacy has been espoused by two service organizations, is keenly interested while his friends are making investigations as to his chances of defeating the veteran congressman at the April primaries. When all the dope is placed before him he will decide whether to become a candidate or not. Col. Smith told a representative of the Antioch News yesterday.

Antioch Residents Are Elected Officers Of Scout Organization

Several Antioch residents were honored at a meeting of the Lake County Council of Boy Scouts held at Waukegan Tuesday night by being elected officers of that organization. George Bartlett was chosen as a representative of business interests; Dr. R. D. Williams, professional, Prin. L. O. Bright, educational; and Rev. Philip Bohl, religious. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Russell, a representative of the Chicago Scout Legion. Those from Antioch who attended were: Rex Bonser, Dan Williams, and Rev. Bohl.

The detour at Niles has been removed and highway 11-21 is open to the county line, a 40 foot highway being in use.

DISCOURSES ON 'GHOST' TOWNS

By Frank R. King

In many sections of our country today are to be found "ghost towns". A ghost town is a "deserted village"—a town that at one time was prosperous and flourishing, but today is uninhabited and its buildings and thoroughfares falling into decay—ghost towns—towns that fail to grow.

Perhaps the most outstanding examples of ghost towns are to be found in mining districts where the ore has run out, or in oil districts where the wells have been pumped dry; but there are also many others where lack of civic interest and operation has brought on community decay, and these once thriving communities have faded into oblivion.

If you want to see examples of towns that are entirely dead—ghost towns—houses alike all closed—windows barred up—drive up into the copper country of the Keweenaw peninsula of Northern Michigan.

Towns Die Where Highways Missed
If you want to see towns that are dying look around you at the towns that the state highways have just missed. It doesn't matter whether it is a few hundred yards or a mile.

Another ten years will bring to light many new ghost towns. Some communities seemingly prosperous

Grand Jury Brings Burglary, Larceny Accusations Against Reid

Arthur Reid, 44, who was wounded and his partner, Arthur Denny, slain while attempting to burglarize freight cars at Lake Villa three weeks ago, faces 15 charges of burglary and larceny in freight yards of the county when the grand jury goes into session December 2, according to State's Attorney A. V. Smith.

Reid, who is considered a desperate character, is a convict of three state prisons. Confessing to all the alleged crimes, the bandit will face the possibility of a federal court trial as well as railroad detectives, for the St. Paul and Soo Lines are eager to have him tried there.

FORMER CHANNEL LAKE RESIDENT IS KILLED IN NORFOLK

Lieut. Robert Hollenbeck Is Buried In Antioch
Monday

Injuries received from falling an approximate distance of 40 feet after he had been overcome by gas fumes, apparently spontaneously generated from paint in an enclosed compartment in the battleship New York caused the death of Lieutenant R. H. Hollenbeck, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Hollenbeck, of Channel Lake and Chicago, at Norfolk, Virginia, Friday.

Victim Detailed As Inspector

Among the phases of modernization which the New York, the flagship of Rear Admiral H. H. Christie, commanding battleship division three of the scouting fleet, was undergoing was the construction of "billets", a sort of double hull for protection against submarines, which had been closed following painting. After the air vents had been opened, Lieut. Hollenbeck was detailed to inspect them, at which time it is believed the compartment was filled with deadly gas fumes generated by the paint and metal during the time the vents had been closed.

One Rescuer Dies; Several Overcome

In his attempt to rescue Hollenbeck, Boatswain's Mate Thomas George Wober, New York, fell with him and was also fatally injured, and seven enlisted men were dangerously overcome when they tried to save the two victims. Actual rescue was not effected until pure air was forced into the compartment through a hose.

Family Has Home on Channel Lake

The parents of the victim, who have had a summer home at Channel Lake for a number of years, are prominent members of the Channel Lake Country club. "Bob" Hollenbeck, as the lieutenant was familiarly known in this locality, was graduated from Annapolis Military Academy in 1926 and about a year and half later he was married to Miss Mable Cameron of Berkeley, California.

Burial in Antioch

Following services in Chicago, burial took place in Hillside cemetery, Antioch, Monday at 11 o'clock, with S. E. Pollock officiating. Contrary to reports circulated early Monday morning that burial would take the form of a naval service, with several Great Lakes sailors in attendance, the last rites were strictly private in accordance with the wishes of the family.

Miss Fanny Westlake was in Waukegan over the week-end visiting her cousin, Mrs. H. B. Johnson.

SPEED CAUSES MOST ACCIDENTS

Carefully compiled figures indicate that auto accidents in the U. S. cause the death of thirty thousand persons and entail a loss of a billion dollars a year. Even with the best safeguards possible there will be accidents with resulting loss of life and property, but most of this is from carelessness. It is doubtful with the increased use of cars and the constant increase of speed, if the number of accidents can be materially decreased. With the killing and injuring of a number as great as the casualties of a small war and a money loss large enough to more than pay the interest on the government debt, it would seem that drivers might learn that speed is not the only desired end in auto traffic.

AN EXPENSIVE LESSON

The recent "market break", characterized as the most severe since the panic of 1914, has taught thousands an expensive lesson.

The prevalent practice of buying stocks on loan margins, by persons without resources, is basically unsound. Leading financial authorities and major stock exchanges and their members have continually warned and ruled against this practice. Even margins normally considered safe did not stand in the late crisis.

The fact that short-sighted speculators have been wiped out in the general decline, is no argument against the institution of modern corporate finance. Our progress is made as more of the public income finds its way into business. Investors who own interests in standard, established industries, bought through recognized brokerage channels on values rather than tips, have nothing to fear.

THE NEW SAFETY ATTITUDE

The changing attitude of executives toward the safety problem is directly reflected by decrease in industrial fatalities and injuries.

The employer of the past regarded safety measures as more or less necessary evils, which caused him expense without benefit. Insurance companies set up elaborate systems of rating which rewarded reduction of hazards with decrease in rates. This inducement was primarily responsible for steps taken in early days to guard mechanism and protect the worker.

The executive today buys safety, not only for a saving in insurance rates, but because he realizes that it is a basic industrial necessity. Every accident, no matter how trivial, is an economic loss and stands in the way of progress.

Safety, efficiency and economy have become related words in industry. The safe plant is the efficient and economical one, attaining a maximum of achievement with a minimum of delays and disorders.

CRIME DOCTORS NEEDED

Crime, according to foremost scientific opinion, is a disease, and must be treated as such.

In the past, crime legislation has failed to take this into account. We have had an abundance of laws, but no determined effort to correct evils—emotional, mental and social—that have caused crime to increase.

Zealous reformers have made strong efforts to pass a national law forbidding the sale and possession of revolvers and pistols. While such efforts have failed, many state laws are in force that make it virtually impossible for the honest citizen to own a gun for protection or amusement.

The futility of such laws is evident. The pistol may be an instrument of crime, as may knives, shotguns or the mails. But it is never a cause. To legislate against it is equivalent to legislating against the automobile because reckless driving causes deaths.

We need crime doctors to correct our judicial system, reorganize our laws, and strike at crime in the manner dictated by science. Too many laws have reacted to the disadvantage of the good citizen and to the benefit of the criminal. Organized, fanatical minorities have made crime legislation impotent.

THE SMALL TOWN IS LEADING AMERICA

Not long ago the nation was stirred by the drift of population away from farms and rural areas into the great cities. Young men, attracted by the high wages paid by industry and what appeared to be the superior social and economic advantages of urban life deserted the soil for the city.

In the past quarter-century rural America has made tremendous progress. Better schools, good roads, the automobile, telephone and radio have created a rural civilization greater than any in history.

Industrialists, attracted by such factors as lack of labor difficulties, low taxes and uncongested, pleasant living and working conditions, were lured from entry into the small town only because of lack of power.

Then rural electrification on a large scale was inaugurated. And now, according to authorities, the smaller towns are on the road to industrial leadership of America and the countryside is staged for the next scene of our industrial progress. The drift of population has turned. At present the only pronounced gain in industrial wage earners is taking place in the country.

It is safe to say that many towns which are almost unknown today will be the great industrial centers of the future. The industrial revolution of the eighteenth century apparently doomed rural progress—now the electric revolution of the twentieth is reversing the process.

Centipedes

This member of the worm family was so named because it had so many legs it was thought there were at least a hundred. However, thirty-one pairs is the largest number of legs ever found on one. The commonly seen centipede is harmless, although some tropical species are poisonous and often reach eighteen inches in length.

"Why, it was the only right thing to do," he said. "If father and mother are willing to trust me and sacrifice to send me the money to give me a chance to get an education, I ought to do the best I can. I'm not expecting praise or reward for doing right. There is enough pleasure in doing the right thing."
The story is told that when in the olden times the crusaders were entering the Holy City a prophetic confronted them and arrested their progress. In her hand she carried a brazier of live coals and on her shoulders a jar of water. When asked what these symbols meant she said, "The water is to put out the fires of hell and the coals to burn up the joys of heaven so that men might be good for goodness' sake."

GOODNESS FOR ITS OWN SAKE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Lizette is a very pretty, self-possessed young girl whom I met at a dinner dance. There was smoking in the lounge after the dinner and the young people were waiting to have the floor cleared so that they might dance. And, as is common these days, smoking by the young women. Lizette smiled and shook her head when her escort offered her a cigarette.

"No, thank you, I don't smoke," she said, but there was no criticism or reproach in her voice.

"You're a good little girl," I said, for I really don't like a girl's smoking and I surmised that Lizette was refusing on principle.

"I don't mind smoking," she explained to me, "but father promised to give each of us girls a sport car if we would not smoke until after we were twenty-one. I haven't long to go."

It was not goodness, as I had supposed which had kept Lizette from smoking, but the hope of reward. When she has earned that there is no telling what she will do, when a fellow gets out his cigarette case and offers to light up for her.

A lot of us are good, not for mere goodness' sake, but for what goodness may bring us—security, reputation, advancement, freedom, from gossip and criticism. In the old revival meetings which used to occupy a considerable amount of our attention during the winter months of my boyhood, the speaker spent a good deal of his time in warning his hearers against dangers and unpleasantnesses of hell. Men turned to goodness because of what virtue would help them to evade; they were good because of the incomparable things in the next world which goodness would bring them. There was little emphasis upon what immediate joy and happiness goodness in itself brought to one. We were urged to be good largely because of our inherent fear of being bad. It was really very poor psychology but, we did not know so very much about psychology in those days.

Henry did remarkably well in his work last semester. I was curious to know what his real motive was in thus applying himself to a difficult task.

Most all editors of weekly newspapers at one time or another have met the subscriber who thought the subscription price too high. If any editor has escaped that experience it is probably he who is responsible for a weekly known as the Harvard Economic Service, probably the highest priced weekly periodical in this country. The publisher of that paper, magazine, or book, whatever, it is, gets $100.00 per year per subscription—no discounts.

Well, the annual onslaught against the innocent chickens, ducks, geese, and turkeys is about to begin.

When an Antioch business man spends a dollar in advertising any good line, he gets several kinds of returns for that dollar. This is not understood by some local merchants who feel that the only return comes from the sale of the article specifically advertised.

When a customer is attracted by one article advertised by some store, he often buys merchandise not mentioned in the advertisement. A few minutes of observation in most any store in this town will prove that statement. Also it is constantly happening that when a customer buys one advertised article, he forms a favorable impression of that store and is led to visit it frequently.

"Antioch, the Beautiful" entitles an article which appears in the December issue of the Pictorial Review. Among the many surprising things asserted by the author is that it was in Antioch that Christianity received its real impetus.

Draw in your chests, folks, and exonerate yourselves from all that sophistication, self-complacency, and what not—the Antioch which this author has reference to is a little mountain town in northern Syria, which is celebrating its 1900th birthday.

Worth Knowing

Brown Flour Quickly
For thickening meat gravies, browned flour is usually best. To prepare a quantity which can be used from time to time, spread one cup of flour on a plate and set in a hot oven. Stir frequently to prevent burning.

When Peeling Apples
Always use a silver knife instead of a steel one when peeling apples and you will avoid discoloration on the fingers.

Langer Life for Brooms
Whisks and brooms will last twice as long if first "tempered" by immersion in soapsuds to toughen the fibres. Dip in suds; rinse well, shake and hang up to dry. Repeat every week or ten days.

For Indoor Plants
Whitewashing the inside of window boxes before filling them with soil will do much to preserve the boxes and keep out insects.

Novel Bait for Mice
Instead of the conventional piece of cheese, bait your traps with pumpkin seeds. Mice are very fond of them.

Washing Wool Sweaters
To wash brushed wool garments make foamy suds of pure soap flakes and lukewarm water. Put garments in and squeeze with the hands, but do not rub or wring. Rinse in several waters, the last slightly soapy. Dry on a folded blanket spread flat on a table, shaping the garments carefully. Turn when one side is dry.

Time and Effort Needed
To Retain Youth

This is a dreadfully busy world. Most of us feel that we lack the leisure to give either face or figure the treatment necessary to retain the bloom of youth.

There are many occasions when a woman can, with the aid of reliable skin preparations, work a real transformation in her appearance by five minutes application of her own hands. You come, perhaps, to the end of a day, all hot, tired and dusty. That party your friends have arranged cannot be evaded; and by the time you have raced upstairs and changed your frock, you haven't time left for anything but a dab of powder. A bath is out of the question.

Now, the most essential requisite that your dressing table can supply is an excellent skin tonic and freshener lotion. Its elements must act quickly, removing the deposits of oil and dust on the skin. Just take a little pad of cotton dipped in the lotion and whisk it over your face; put a bit of rouge on your cheeks—better put on too little than too much—touch your lipstick to the center of your lips, spreading it quickly with your fingertips; then a little powder patted on—and you're ready.

In this quick freshening-up—whether you've had time to cleanse your face or not—never, never fail to wet a cotton pad with a fragrant skin tonic of unquestionable quality and whisk it over your face. You experience a light, fresh, cooling effect, and immediately you feel better, more composed.

This is merely a short cut to loveliness. A good skin requires planned care, just as a good meal requires it. But good cooks know short cuts in emergencies, too.

Change in Measurement

A lineal foot has not always been 12 inches in length. It originally meant the length of the human foot. The standard, however, has varied in different countries. England and America long ago adopted the 12-inch foot. This length was first established in England under Henry I. His arm was declared the standard yard and the foot was then made one third of a yard.

Beeswax

Beeswax is a fatty substance secreted by bees and they consume great quantities of honey before swarming in order to produce wax used in building combs. Ten to twenty pounds of honey is required for each pound of wax. To produce wax for commercial use, the comb is hotted and the molten wax comes to the surface and hardens when skinned off.

Handsome Fall Suit

A very handsome fall suit is made of tan and beige tweed, trimmed with collar and cuffs of brown beaver. The coat is three-quarter length and the skirt is made with plaited front. The blouse is of pale blue satin. With the suit is worn brown mulligan shoes and the handbag is of the same leather. The gloves are of tan suede and the hat of tan felt.

Sally Ann's

at Her Home

Wouldn't you like to hear a story that the Sandman told to Sally Ann, little folks? Well, here it is:

OLD MR. GIANT

"I am going to give a dinner," shouted Peter Gnome, "in honor of the club, the Every-Day-Is-Nice Club."

"All our members have lived up to the rules so beautifully in acting and behaving and feeling that every day, no matter what the weather, was fun, and that something could be done every single day."

"So I am going to give a dinner. Pray all come and hear the news."

The brownies, elves, gnomes, members of the Bogey family, old Mr. Gnome and Willy Witch and the goblins all came bustling to the spot where Peter Gnome stood.

When he saw them all he waved his high hat in the air and shouted.

"There is a little cave near here. It would not be large enough for old Mr. Giant, but it is going to be my new home."

"There is moss inside, and there are little ferns growing about."

"There are tiny cracks in the rocks and sometimes I will be able to talk to the insects and hear why they do this and why they do that."

"So I am going to give a cave warming."

"Wink?" they all asked in surprise. "When people give a party in a new house they call it a house warming—or when they have moved to a new home."

"Well, as my house is to be a cave, and as I am going to give a party in it, I think I should call it a cave warming."

"Perfectly sensible," said Willy Witch.

"A very sensible young fellow," said Peter Gnome.

"Still," said old Mr. Giant, and stopped for a moment, then commenced to speak again, and then to wipe a tear away.

"Why old Mr. Giant, what is the matter?" asked Peter Gnome, as he hopped on Mr. Giant's right shoulder, pulled his right ear and kissed the tip of his ear gaily.

"I was being a little selfish," said Mr. Giant.

"You—selfish!" shouted Peter Gnome. "What in the world do you mean?"

"I will tell you," said Mr. Giant.

"Do," said Peter Gnome.

"Do," said Willy Witch. "I always approve of creatures telling what they have heard that makes them feel hurt."

"I don't believe in their keeping it to themselves as it may all be a misunderstanding that can be cleared up with a little talk."

"Peter Gnome is going to give a cave warming," said Mr. Giant, "and he said his cave was too small for me."

"It hurts my feelings for I thought my dear friend Peter Gnome loved me."

"Oh, Mr. Giant," said Peter Gnome.

"How glad I am you told me what was the matter."

"Yes, Willy Witch, you are quite right in saying things should be talked out."

"My cave where I'll sleep is very small—too small for you but all right for a bedroom for me, but my real place where I'll give the cave warming is the outside part which is like an open cave, and there are two great tables of rocks where I shall have dinner parties and where we're to have our party now."

"Oh, Mr. Giant, I wouldn't live anywhere where you couldn't come and visit me."

"There will be lots of room for you in the big cave. You can even take a nap on one of my tables any time you wish."

Old Mr. Giant was happy once more and they all went off to the party which was a huge success.

Freezing Points Vary

While water freezes, or the ice melts at 32 degrees Fahrenheit, some liquids have a different freezing point. Mercury freezes at 39 degrees below zero, alcohol at 202 below zero. Salt water freezes according to the amount of salt it contains, the mark for sea water freezing averages 28.5 degrees above. Alcohol supplants mercury in thermometers used in very cold countries. FOX LAKE POULTYMEN MAKES CHICKENS WORK OVERTIME IN WINTER

Moldenhauer Gets Steady Supply of Eggs by Lighting Shed

A 12-hour working day for chickens during the winter months is Max A. Moldenhauer's way of getting a steady supply of eggs during what is usually a fallow time for hens. Mr. Moldenhauer, who dwells on a farm near Fox Lake, Ill., gets results by lighting the poultry shed, housing over two hundred pullets and yearling hens. The lights have nothing to do with the eggs—they merely give the hens a chance to feed properly during the period when natural daylight is three to five hours shorter than in their natural laying months, he says.

Neighbors laughed when Mr. Moldenhauer's landlord installed the modern poultry equipment, he recalls, but the gentleman was canny. The first year, even though the baby chicks did badly, he got a 10 per cent return on his investment. One of the big elements of success lay in the lighting apparatus, which is controlled by a clockwork switch, arranged to turn lights on or off at any predetermined time. Mr. Moldenhauer begins to light his flock about November 15 and keeps up until March 1, when natural daylight almost coincides with feeding time.

Lighting chicken coops is said to date back to Queen Elizabeth's day and its American history is forty years old. Only in the past decade has it really come into its own. When scientifically used, on the basis of 40 to 100 watts per each 200 square feet, it eliminates the heavy shadows so depressive to hens, poultrymen claim. Economically, it is most important, since by providing winter eggs, it keeps prices at a reasonable level.

Miss Elizabeth Webb is visiting in Waukegan.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McNeal, Des Moines, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Hoyer Nelson Tuesday evening. The Misses, Isabelle Harwood, Julia Stricker, Dorothy Patterson, Mildred Hyman, and Janet Warner spent the week-end at the home of Miss Warner, Whitewater, Wisconsin. While there they attended the Milwaukee-Whitewater game.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fowles, Lake Forest, spent Sunday at the Alonzo Runyard home. Miss Beth Williams is spending several days at Riverdale, Ill. Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Hoebe spent Sunday in LaGrange, Ill., the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Kohout.

KNOT HOLE NEWS

Vol. II Thursday, November 21, 1929 No. 45

Published in the interest of the people of Antioch and vicinity by H. R. Adams Lumber Co.

The melancholy days have come. The saddest of the year. And the time for donning red flannels is rapidly drawing near.

With more folks taking their eyes off the flicker and putting them on their jobs, business is going to be better. Sound standards mean sound prosperity.

Teacher: "Can you give an example of the human body adapting itself to changing conditions?"

Johnnie: "Dad gained fifty pounds last year and his skin didn't bust."

Don't despair because you are sometimes despondent. Remember the sun has a sinking spell every night and rises every morning.

If there are any weak spots in your roof and you feel that it is too late or otherwise impossible to re-roof before winter, you can patch them over perfectly so as to keep out the elements and keep in the heat with a little bit of Mule Hide cement or coating, which you can easily apply yourself. See us about it soon.

If you don't give up too soon, you're bound to get what you go after, no matter if the whole world says you can't do it.

Word reached us not long ago that they were floundering around in about ten inches of snow in western Kansas and Colorado. Which reminds us that we are glad that we live in Antioch.

Have you tried our Dustless Poca-hontas coal? If not, order a trial load, and then see how clean your basement is after the coal is put in. Here it is Thanksgiving! We suppose we will have to eat a lot of turkey, dressing, cranberries, pumpkin pie, and all the rest of the "trimmings". Oh, Boy! won't that be hard work!

Over heard on the streets of Antioch: "I've got a freak on my farm. It's a two legged calf." "I know. I'll come over to call on my daughter in a night."

The cold blasts of winter's piercing winds cause a tremendous economic loss. Tests show that infiltration and air leakage is 30 to 40% at doors and windows. Stop this loss by installing storm doors and windows.

Some folks broaden with age; others merely grow fat.

PILGRIMS FOUND PLYMOUTH COLONY MORE THAN 200 YEARS; SEEK RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

Continental Congress First To Recommend Annual Feasts Of Thanksgiving

WORSHIP SHOULD BE KEYNOTE OF EVENTS

One stormy night in December more than three hundred years ago, it was here that a certain place on the bleak New England coast and had looked out across the waters where could have seen a small ship riding at anchor. It was a crude ship and those whom it housed were of the common sort of people, without wealth or fame, but their hearts beat with the spirit that was to give them fame in after years, even though they lived not to learn of the honor.

Here was a company of people without a home; they had left their native land on the other side of the Atlantic and it was their intention of founding for themselves and posterity a home in the new world where they might have freedom to worship God as they saw fit. Little did that company of people think that before the spring sun should cover the leeward coast with green, that one-half of their number would answer to the roll call of death, and yet, when spring came, it was but a handful of men, women, and children who saw in the promise of springtime something better for the future. They did not look upon their hardships and their sufferings as a sign of divine disapproval for the action they had taken. They accepted their lot as a test of faith and with hearts and minds ready for whatever was in store for them they settled down to the task of providing for the necessities of life while the Plymouth colony was founded. It was a colony founded on faith and in faith they looked to God to guide, while they tried to make their wills conform to His.

These sturdy Pilgrims looked to the Lord to provide, but they did their part as well. During the spring and summer they labored to produce a bountiful crop that the perils of the next winter might be lessened. So faithfully did they labor and so abundantly was their labor blessed that in the early fall they felt called upon to feast before the Lord and offer a joyous Thanksgiving prayer. It was the prayer of Thanksgiving rather than the feast that was emphasized. That was in the fall of 1621. These Pilgrims were surrounded by the wilderness which sheltered the wild beast and the still wilder man who might prove to be an enemy at any moment. Their homes were but rude shacks that would keep out neither cold nor storms. The crops they had raised would require the most careful handling to last until the harvest of another year gave them a new supply; but these sturdy pioneers of a new nation and a new civilization did not ask for much and were so thankful that they set aside a day to give thanks. Even their feast was a form of worship. Thus was Thanksgiving day established in the new world.

We do not know if the next annual harvest was welcomed in like manner, but we do know that from time to time throughout the century which followed, the Pilgrims and their descendants praised the Lord at the gathering of the harvest and had one day set apart for general Thanksgiving.

The Thanksgiving spirit spread from the little hamlet where it had its origin until it reached the borders of the colonial territory. During the trying days of the Revolutionary struggle, the continental congress felt the need of something more than any mortals could do and recommended annual feasts of thanksgiving, at which times the people should praise the Lord for the progress made and renew their hopes of ultimate victory. Hopes were high, though progress was slow and how uncertain was the possibility of victory! Yet the people were thankful that they were able to fight for liberty and privileged to hope that liberty would be eventually realized.

At length the struggle was over, the treaty of peace was signed, and in 1784, Congress recommended a general day of thanksgiving commemorating the return of peace.

During Washington's first year as President of the United States, he issued a proclamation setting aside a certain day to be observed as Thanksgiving Day. In 1795, a similar proclamation was issued, calling upon the people to give thanks for the general benefits and welfare that had come to the young nation during its first six years. Twenty years later, President Monroe issued another Thanksgiving proclamation, just after the close of another conflict.

Thanksgiving observance was left for presidential sanction and recommendation, and did not become an annual event until the year 1863. That year a day, which was more of a consecration than thanksgiving, was set aside by Lincoln. The next year a similar day was observed and in 1865, President Johnson issued a proclamation setting aside a day for thanksgiving and each year thereafter the president of the nation has felt that it was his duty to bring thanksgiving observance to the attention of the public in some formal manner.

With the passing years, it seems that the day has lost some of its significance. The Pilgrims' thought of Thanksgiving has been overshadowed by feasting and yet how much more we have, for which we should be thankful than did those pioneers who braved hardships and were ready for other trials and difficulties! They met to worship and the feast was only incidental to that worship. This is a day sacred in the history of the nation and all America should ever remember Him who has given to us beyond our ability to receive.

ANTIOCH PEOPLE IN ACCIDENT ON WAY TO FLORIDA

E. B. Williamses, Mrs. Holtdorf, Chauffeur Slightly Injured

While descending a long hill which the rain had made hazardous to automobile drivers, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Williams, Mrs. Laura Holtdorf, and C. K. Anderson's chauffeur were slightly bruised and cut when their car skidded off the road as they entered Griffin, Georgia, enroute to their winter home in Melbourne, Florida.

Tricks to Avoid Collision
Trying to evade a collision with a Ford car which had skidded in a crosswise position in the road, the chauffeur took a chance on passing on the shoulder of the road, which was soft from the rains. As he started to turn the car back onto the highway, it skidded to the opposite side and down an 8 foot embankment with a head-on collision, landing on its top.

Occupants Not Seriously Injured
The four occupants of the car, who were slightly bruised and cut and badly shaken up, were extricated from the accident by passing motorists, who took them into Griffin. The damage done to the car consisted of a bent fender, a broken windshield, and several broken windows.

MODERN HOUSE IS A "MACHINE FOR BETTER LIVING"

Home Life Enriched by Safety, Beauty, and Convenience

By Wyatt Grummitt

Home is a factory for the production of shelter, safety and happiness for the family. There is no reason why a home should be a less efficient factor in Machine Age life than a plant built for the production of an industrial investment.

Modernism in home architecture does not imply bizarre or freakish architecture, for modernism is essentially a matter of utility, comfort, convenience and economy. There is no reason why a small English cottage type of house cannot be truly "modern"; similarly, American colonial architecture may be utilized in a home that is as modern as next year's motor car.

Modernism in a home means, first, that from a purely structural standpoint the house is built to stand the gaff of weather and to afford its occupants the utmost comfort and security, no matter what may be happening outdoors.

Second, modernism means freedom from the hazards of fire, whether those hazards are fire-brands from a neighbor's house or of interior origin. Fire is an expensive and out-of-date luxury.

Third, the modern house is light, airy and easy to clean and keep clean.

Fourth, modernism in a home means a minimum of waste space; for waste space costs as much as used space and doesn't pay dividends.

Fifth, the modern house is an investment; shoddy construction, with its inevitable following of early depreciation and high maintenance has no place in the truly modern scheme of things.

Finally, the modern home is beautiful, inside and out. It is a beauty more of design than ornament, of carefully designed proportions rather than elaborate scroll-work tacked on at random.

Strength, fire-safety, cleanliness, utility, permanence and beauty—these are the factors which make a home honestly modern. With modern materials, handled by skilled workers, a modest house can be made as modern as the most self-conscious effort of a hobby-riding millionaire.

Few materials are better suited to the needs of modernism than cement. For cement enters into the making of hollow, fire-safe masonry, basements that are livable, roof tile that are impervious to fire, floors that prevent structural distortion and offer unlimited decorative possibilities, stucco that can appeal individually and beauty, cast stone for permanent sills, lintels and trim, and garages that add rather than detract from the beauty of the home.

And the more modern the home, the more opportunity there is for the development of happy, healthful and useful families.

Channel Lake Country Club News

DINNER DANCE PROVES HAPPY SOCIAL EVENT

The dinner dance which was given for the young people of the Channel Lake Country club on Friday evening, November 15, by the President, Mr. E. J. Gnaedinger, will go down in history as one of the most successful and happy events ever recorded for the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Gnaedinger, assisted by the Vice-President and Mrs. Henry Paulson, were the hosts for the evening, and everything was thought of, and provided, which might in any way add to the pleasure of those present.

A fine dinner, a splendid orchestra, an entertainer to fill in the pauses, and special prizes, were the high lights of the evening. Each young lady was given a number as she entered the ballroom, and later the duplicate numbers were drawn from a hat, and five prizes were awarded the lucky winners.

Mr. Gnaedinger's generous hospitality was most enthusiastically appreciated, and on behalf of those present, William M. Dorrance rose to the occasion and expressed the hearty thanks of the company, to which Mr. Gnaedinger replied, with the hope that this was only a fore-runner of other such happy occasions for club members.

The dinner tables were most attractively arranged around the edge of the ball-room and much credit is due the management of the Hotel Knickerbocker for the artistic setting-up.

Special mention should also be made of the efforts put forth by the Committee on Arrangements headed by Brooke Phillips, George Laflin, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Heg.

Eighty-four reservations were made, and among those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Heg, Richard Hummer, Wm. Graf, John Corley Varde, Wm. Serrin, Jr., Richard Hildebrand, James Old Hitchcock, Louis Nissen, Hans Lytle, Richard Johnson, Wm. Dorrance, Harold Mills, Wm. Mills, and J. Stevens; the Misses Phillips, Laflin, Hafer, Gray, and Bunge; and Messrs. Bunge, Laflin, Hafer, A. Gifford, W. Howe, M. Loven, Max and Ed Mauermann, Robert and Norman Tankersley.

It is a pleasure to be able to make a correction in the announcement of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Kresse and daughter will return from their sojourn in Australia probably during the next summer, and it is hoped, will be able to participate in the summer activities of the club.

Card Party Is Announced

The Card Committee of the Club, Mrs. Ernest Brook, chairman, with Mrs. Wm. Smyth, Mrs. Harry Arms, and Mrs. Wm. Cooper announce a card party for the ladies and their guests, to be held at the Medinal Athletic club, North Michigan Ave., Chicago, on Friday, December 6th, at 12:30 p. m. The reservations for this party are being taken by Mrs. Wm. J. Smyth, 6618 Kimbark avenue, telephone Hyde Park 6247, and it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

Lieut. Hollenbeck Dies in Accident
It was a dreadful shock to the members of the country club to learn of the sudden death of Lieutenant R. H. Hollenbeck, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. Hollenbeck, 7101 N. Ashland P. D. Hollenbeck, 7101 N. Ashland Avenue, Chicago. The Hollenbecks have had a summer home on Channel lake for many years, and "Bob", as he was familiarly known, grew up from boyhood among the many members from that locality, and was greatly beloved by them. Bob was graduated from Annapolis in 1926, and about a year and a half later married Miss Mazie Cameron of Berkeley, California.

Lieut. Hollenbeck and Thomas Webber of New York, boatswain mate, were detailed to inspect the "histers" of the battleship New York, stationed at Norfolk, Va., the "histers" being a sort of double hull for protection against submarines. This been had painted and closed, and the gas is believed to have been generated by paint and metal in the airtight space, and both Hollenbeck and Webber fell about forty feet in the hold after they were overcome by the fumes.

The most heartfelt sympathy of all club members and friends is extended to the family of Lieutenant Hollenbeck.

SEEN BUT NOT HEARD

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

"Children should be seen but not heard" was a maxim which was regularly drilled in my ears during the period when I could still be reckoned a child. It was not expected that we younger members of the family should have any active part in the social activities of the family. When company came we were expected to speak courteously to the guests, but if we remained to the room, which we seldom did, we were expected to maintain a decorous silence. It was the same way at church. As far back as my memory goes we were not considered too young to be taken to the morning service, but no foolishness was allowed, no conversation could be indulged in. We might go to sleep on mother's arm if the sand man scattered too much dust in our eyes, but if we cried we were taken out and given the attention which such irregularities or derelictions merited. Children were not supposed to cry or to attract public attention in the old days, though they were much more frequently seen in public gatherings than at the present time, and somewhat more under parental control. I venture to say,

I had gone over to Dayton, Ohio, a few years ago to listen to a minister whom we were considering as a possibility for the church of which I am a member. My coming was announced and I seated myself in a remote corner of the audience room. During the entire service, a child of three or so, roared up and down the main aisle, planted himself at intervals upon the pulpit steps, and with much vocal enthusiasm expressed his appreciation of the freedom which he was enjoying. I got little of the discourse and less of the musical program so much was I taken up with the performance of the child. After I had eaten my luncheon I called on the parson.

"How did you enjoy the service this morning?" he inquired solicitously. "I didn't get so very much of it," I had to confess. "I was watching that incorrigible infant cavorting about, and raising general carnage."

"It was my child," he admitted after a moment's hesitation.

"He has an active body and good lungs," I said as graciously as I could, but I did not add that he had probably not had impressed upon him the maxim of being seen and not heard.

There were ten thousand people to the audience room at a public gathering I recently attended and the speaker was trying his best with the aid of a loud speaker to carry his message to everyone. Up in the gallery was a baby, restless and irritated at times and given to vocal expression. At the most impressive moments of the speaker's discourse the baby would cry out and ten thousand faces were instantly turned in his direction. He needed no amplifier, so shrill was his voice, to carry his revolt to the remotest corner of the hall. And all the time the mother sat apparently unperturbed with her child the center of attention.

WILMOT PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOC. SPONSORS PROGRAM

High School Basketball Season Opens Friday Night

The Wilmot P. T. A. met at the gymnasium Tuesday evening and an excellent crowd was in attendance. Prof. M. M. Schurr, chairman, opened the meeting and after the business meeting, introduced those on the program. Music and Recreation had been chosen by the program committee for the theme of the evening's entertainment and the first number was appropriately given by Chris Nielson, teacher of voice, accompanied by Miss Rhoda Jedele, Mr. Nielson sang "Three For Jack" by W. H. Squire, and "Because" by Guy D'Ardelet in a very pleasing manner. Miss Ruth Thomas talked at length on correct reading, and how best to spend leisure time in the perusal of books. Miss Thomas' talk was very instructive and interesting. Miss Grace Carey, accompanied by Miss Jedele, followed with two vocal numbers; "Out of My Soul's Great Sadness" by Robert Franz and "Linden Lea" by R. V. Williams. Mr. Nielson told the audience of the value of music as a recreation for both old and young and what he has seen it accomplish personally for backward pupils in different classes under his charge. LAKE VILLA WOMAN'S CLUB MEMBERS ENJOY MEETING AT ANTIOCH

Cedar Lake School Is Closed On Account of Diphtheria

Eighteen members of the Lake Villa Woman's club enjoyed the hospitality of the Antioch club at the Episcopal parish house on Monday afternoon.

The Cedar Lake school, northwest of town, is closed this week for fumigation, as one of the pupils, Solon Jensen, of the Lundin farm, has a light case of diphtheria. The teacher, Miss Lawler, is spending the week at her home at DeKalb, and the card party and dance which was to have been given at the school on Saturday night, is indefinitely postponed.

Miss Elsa Seeger, a teacher in the State College at Marion, Indiana, is spending a two week's vacation with her parents here.

Mrs. J. A. Pederson attended the funeral of an aunt near Batavia, Ill., Monday.

Through the kindness of O. W. Lehmann and the Woman's club, a permanent Christmas tree has been placed in the schoolyard to be lighted during the holiday season. Last year a temporary one, a fir tree from the West, was furnished by R. E. Hussey. Mr. Brinkman, the janitor at school, has placed an ornamental as well as a useful fence around it for protection. Both Mr. Lehmann and the members of the Woman's club deserve much credit.

Mrs. Chas. Madsen was called to Kenosha early last week by the death of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Will Pester returned Tuesday evening from a pleasant auto trip to South Dakota.

T. B. Rhoades is spending a couple of weeks in Waukegan at the Moor Mud Baths for treatment of rheumatism.

Clyde Helm accompanied the Wm. Stratton family on a hunting trip on the Illinois river over Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Johnson of St. Paul, Minn., is spending a few weeks with her son, who is section foreman for the Soo Line railroad.

The Hucker building, occupied by Steve Hurdish as a barbershop, is undergoing various repairs and the barber shop is temporarily located in part of the Hucker garage next door.

Mrs. Clayton Hamlin and son spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Douglas and children, of Waukegan, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Sherwood on Sunday.

Miss Mary Kerr spent the first of the week with her sister, Mrs. Spring, at Millburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Douglas and a friend, of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Douglas, of Waukegan, were

Miss Hynck Gives Impressions of Foreign Travel

An Interview by Agnes Blensang

Upon entering Germany, Miss Hynck and her T. C. (travelling companion) again had to be dragged through the provoking experience of having their luggage searched for evidences of Swiss contamination. The inspector, however, was not of the particular type and after he had looked into one of the bags with a perfunctory glance, he gave them their clearance papers.

In Heidelberg they were impressed by the old buildings and by the great number of ancient castles, which have partly fallen in ruins. One of the many points of interest in that ancient city is the University of Heidelberg—an institution of what histories, tragedies, legends, songs, and stories! It is very sparsely furnished and the various frats which are connected with it are much more antagonistic toward each other than those in our American universities and colleges, and the members, through the medium of street convention, manage to let the public know with which organization they are connected. Another of the tourist attractions which the teachers were privileged to see was the garden from which the scenes of the "Student Prince" were taken.

Their being in Heidelberg on the Fourth of July did not deprive them of an opportunity to express their patriotic sentiments, since the Germans put up the American flag with their own and gave a special American dinner for Miss Hynck and her T. C., at which the waitresses wore red, white, and blue head bands, and at which the appointments consisted of small American flags. As a sequel to a day of cheering and feasting in the good old American way, the teachers attended a dancing party given at one of the famous Beer Gardens. Among those who attended were several University of Heidelberg students who had scarcely on their faces, an indication that they had fought the necessary number of duels to become fraternity members.

From Heidelberg they started on their journey "up the Rhine". The Rhine, a river which is associated with the greatest events in the history of Germany, France, and Northern Europe; with the Rome of Caesar and Aurelian; with the Rome of Popes; with the Reformation; with the goblin lore and beautiful fairy tales of Celtic civilization that have been evolved through centuries and have become the household stories of all enlightened lands!

Judging from Miss Hynck's colorful description of it, a journey down the Rhine must be like passing through Wonderland; wild stories, quaint stories, legendary and historic stories are connected with every red of the ground from the Alps to the ocean. It is a region of the stories of two thousand years. The Rhine is the river of the poet; its banks are the battlefields of heroes; its forests and villages the fairy lands of old. When Rome was Queen of the world, Caesar carried his eagle over the Rhine; Julian erected a fortress on the Rhine; and Valentinian began castle-building that was to go on for a thousand years. The shores of this wonderful river are lined with old castles, many of which have crumbled to ruin. On their way "up the Rhine", they visited Bonn, the home of Beethoven.

From Bonn they went direct to Cologne. "Holy Cologne" it was called, for it was the ecclesiastical capital of the ancient German church, the Rome of the Northern Empire. Their first "visit" of course was to the great Cathedral of Cologne, which is beautifully constructed in Gothic architecture. The interior was like a forest; the columns were like tree-stems of a vast open woodland, and the grained arches appeared like interwoven boughs. The gorgeous windows were like a sunset through the trees. The air was dusky in the arches, but near the lofty windows vivid with color. Cologne at one time, it is said, had as many churches as there are days in the year; but their glory is gone now; though, in the Middle Ages, Cologne was the second great city of the Church.

The city is full of "wonders in stone and marble", and as full of legends too, for she is "old as Rome in her glory", dating back farther than the Christian era. The Rhine above Cologne is broad, and the poplars willows edge it on either side. There are many windmills on the banks, and steamers on the water.

Why the world awards first place to STUDEBAKER EIGHTS

Eleven world records for speed and endurance—and more American stock car records than all other makes combined—are held by Studebaker Eights.

This year's Penrose Trophy Race to the summit of Pike's Peak was won in record time by a Studebaker President Eight—over a tortuous twisting roadway involving 154 breath-taking curves.

The greatest record in the history of transportation established over a year ago by Studebaker's President Eight that traveled 30,000 miles in 26,326 consecutive minutes—still stands unchallenged. And this time-tried championship stamina is built into every Studebaker Eight—President, Commander or Dictator.

Studebaker is the world's largest builder of Eights because Studebaker Eights are brilliant and thrifty beyond anything motordom has known. Drive one of the new Studebaker Eights before committing yourself to any new car—Six or Eight.

Antioch Netters Beat Crystal Lake 43-15

Antioch Netters defeated Crystal Lake 43-15 in a game which showed the great offense and defense of which the local team boasts. By marvelous passing and clever playing, Antioch led 22-3 at the half. In the last half Antioch played just as well and ran up a good sized score due to the accurate shooting of Nixon and Wilson. Nixon, alone, outscored the other team, while he and Wilson more than doubled the score of their opponents. Steininger played a great passing game and his defensive work stood out. He held Pinnon, opposition captain, without a point.

Ewers and Simpson, powerful guards, continually took the ball from their opponents and sent it down the floor to the forwards for baskets. They held their opposition forwards to one basket. Hughes and Hook, sub guards, played marvelous ball the last half, blocking many shots and never letting their man free.

Next Friday Antioch Netters go to Wilmet to play the highly touted Wilmet Pirates. The Pirates have a fine team and the Netters will be fortunate to get through this game unscathed.

Next Monday Antioch entertains the great Pirate outfit at the Antioch gym in a return game. This one should attract a great crowd, in that it ought to be the best game of the year.

The Pirates have a team of stars in the Richters, Franks, and others. Antioch Netters have two fast high scoring forwards in Wilson and Nixon and Steininger is a giant on both offense and defense. Ewers and Simpson are outstanding men at guards and Hughes, Nelson, Campbell, and Hook are high class subs; Campbell is a player from South Dakota just signed by the Netters.

The scores are as follows:

Nixon	10	1	21
Wilson	6	1	12
Steininger	3	1	7
Ewers	1	0	2
Rhodes	1	1	3

Sleeping Sickness

Sleeping sickness is caused by a tiny animal parasite, the carrier being the tsetse fly. The duration of the disease varies with different victims, some living for several years. Irregular fever, headache, inability to sleep, and weakness are early symptoms, followed by red eruptions and enlargement of glands all over the body. Then come sleepiness and convulsions. KING DISCOURSES ON "GHOST TOWNS" zine section of today's edition of the Antioch News that it is the small towns that are headed for the discard. Nearly all small towns are, if they have not some particular advantage as a basis to work on to hold their own and grow—Antioch is fortunate in having such an advantage—our lakes. How are we to make use of this advantage?

Route 21 "Made" Antioch. The one big impetus that Antioch has had as a stimulant for growth was the construction of Route 21—through our town—and not a half mile away.

Another state highway is coming our way. It should go through, or very near our business section if it is to do us any good. We should make it our business to see that it goes there. It can be done—if we get together and insist that it be built through Antioch we will get it. Some will tell you that the plans have been made and cannot be changed. That is the bunk.

What else do we need now and what can we do about it?

First, we should have a city planner to remap our town and provide for additional lanes for north and south traffic. This service can be had at very little cost if we make use of the help offered by the Chicago Regional Planning association. This should be done now to take care of immediate traffic needs.

Visions Future Air Travel How about the future? Ten years from today our summer customers will be coming to us by air. We are not ready to construct an air-port now—but we surely should secure a site for it before our available land is all subdivided.

Fifty years ago towns were built on the railroad—today they are being built on the highways—ten years from now they will be built around an air port. Are we going to get ready for this?

Lauds Hotel Project We are to have a new hotel—a real one. This will be the biggest push forward we have had since the construction of Route 21. The project came principally from the outside. If others can see such possibilities here, why not take a look at our own possibilities ourselves—see if we cannot do something smart on our own initiative?

Last, but not least, why not tug some of the business that is going right through?

Provide parking space. It won't be long now until we will look "way back when" towns used their main streets as a storage garage. That practice will be just as obsolete as hitching posts are now. Why not be one of the first ones? The land is now available. Let's limit our parking to 60 minutes—doll up our parking space and try it for one season anyhow.

Urges Watchfulness The growth of a community must be developed and watched. While a bigger Antioch is to be desired by its citizens, it is of equal importance that Antioch should also be a better community. It is this thought that is in the minds of the sponsors of the Community Development Campaign.

now being carried on in the Antioch News.

Remember that the ghost towns of America are deserted villages because their citizens bled the community of the prosperity so abundantly provided and put nothing back. Are you doing your share to safeguard the growth of Antioch? Are you doing your share to make Antioch a bigger and better community? Are you putting your share back into this community to help it grow and develop?

Boosters Forget Selfish Angles No individual should analyze a community proposition of importance from the angle of "to what extent will I personally be benefited?" Should every individual of Antioch assume such an attitude, it is needless to state our town and community would never be more than a wide place in the road—if it would be in existence at all.

A town or community that is good enough to live in is deserving and good enough to be boosted to the very utmost of our ability.

We all owe it to the Growth and Progress of Antioch to do our share in helping it to grow and prosper.

P. S. I wonder if our genial and efficient supervisor, with the unusual access he has to the "powers that be", could not secure for our lake region a state or county park? Kenosha county has one on Fox river south of Silver Lake. Have you seen it?

THE whole universe is in a state of constant change. Everything about us, yes even ourselves and our community are undergoing a continuous change.

¶Most marked of all these changes is that of GROWTH.

¶Appreciation of growth can be understood by considering the development of our own town with that of other towns. A study of this development brings home to us, among other vital facts, this truth—the measure of Community success is dependent upon growth.

¶In other words, no community stands still—there are but two alternatives, the community grows and succeeds—or it goes backward and perishes.

¶Population alone does not determine the prosperity of our community any more than the weight of the individual determines health or personality.

¶Eminent physicians in referring to the physical condition of individuals tell us: "Your belt line is your life line—watch your belt line." By the same token experienced authorities on community development have cast into the discard the slogan "Watch Us Grow" for the more scientific phrase "Watch Your Growth."

¶Successful community growth demands the rate of increase in population be in proper relation to the size of the community. A normal growth, which allows this added population to become assimilated, welded, fused into the community life means that the community is in a sound condition.

¶Let us not aspire to become just a bigger community, but to become a Bigger and Better Community. A town cannot be bigger until it is better, and it cannot be better until it is bigger. Let us remember that it is natural and normal for a community to grow—unless it does there is something wrong—something lacking.

¶What is the normal growth of a community?

¶The answer to this question must be sought in the records of the development of all communities in our nation. Nor can it be answered by a simple statement, because community growth is complex and varies with geographical location, resources, leadership and present size. However, the average growth is now 15% every ten years.

¶Let us all create a spirit and enterprise in our community that will bear fruit in the creation of a Bigger and Better town to live in.

THE ANTIOCH NEWS

Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing.

Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. A tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. Read the proven directions and you'll discover many valuable uses for these tablets. For headaches; to check colds. To ease a sore throat and reduce the infection. For relieving neuralgia, neuritic, rheumatic pain.

People used to wonder if Bayer Aspirin was harmful. The doctors answered that question years ago. It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you must consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Bayer Aspirin for immediate relief.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monocaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Children Cry for it

Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups. Castoria is sold in every drug store; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

Co-Operate

THESE days one hears so much about the word co-operate that it has almost lost its significance. Nevertheless, when it is applied to matters of health it is not only an apt term but an absolutely necessary one as well.

The present-day emphasis on health in magazines, newspapers, moving pictures and over the radio is unprecedented. In addition, a national flow of information and official supervision can be traced to the private, municipal, state and federal health agencies; not to mention the valuable work which is constantly being accomplished by the insurance companies. It is unmistakably a sign of the times, and a most gratifying one.

Unfortunately, however, there is a tendency on the part of thousands of people to conclude that with so many people interested in the other fellow's welfare that little, if anything, need be done toward that end by the fellow himself.

Even after the establishment of adequate water and milk control, the development of proper sewage facilities and efficient communicable disease regulation, the biggest job in health remains for the individual himself to do.

Health departments and officials can eloquently and even vigorously suggest that one needs sufficient sleep, all the fresh air he can get, a proper amount of wholesome food and daily exercise. But then they have gone as far as they can go. As for the individual, it is strictly a "take it or leave it" proposition.

"Take it" and live long! "Leave it" and live less! Which seems to indicate that co-operation pays. It's up to you!

The Wayside Camp

EVERY possible precaution has been thrown around the automobile tourist. Federal and state officials are extremely solicitous for the man, and his family on the road. Well do these authorities appreciate that no matter how fine the weather, how inspiring the scenery, or how good the food, these things will amount to little if, as a result of the trip, illness follows in its wake.

It is therefore not enough that caution signs and signals are to be found at every crossroad and curve. Health departments have gone farther by attempting to regulate the sanitation of the wayside camp. It is plain, however, that even with regular inspections on the part of the official personnel, the real key to the proper observance of the law, so far as these establishments are concerned, is held by the tourist himself.

Many jurisdictions in this country require that safe water be supplied at these places, that the grounds be maintained at all times in a sanitary condition, that a prompt disposition of the garbage be made, and that comfort facilities are properly kept.

It will pay the traveler to be lucky on this camp question. If the place does not meet the fundamental requirements, then move on. Far better that a few more miles be added to the trip than to run the risk of typhoid fever, which at its best is an exceedingly risky malady.

And in this connection, do not forget that the tourist also has a duty to perform which can be summarized under three "don'ts." 1. Don't throw garbage into streams. 2. Don't pollute running water in any manner. 3. Don't drink from creeks or rivers no matter how potent their setting or how clear and cool the water may be.

With the camp proprietor doing his best to comply with regulations and with the patron, by his conduct and cleanliness, assisting and inspiring him, a combination is set up that will be hard for old typhoid to beat. Now, then, all aboard for a safe and pleasant journey!

Lucky Day for Clerk

When He Answered Ad
Young Randall, a clerk in a big office in the Grand Central district, had felt for a couple of years that his work was not receiving the reward it merited, and that he would never be given a chance to ascend the ladder of success. In that particular place, he was sure that his immediate superior was to blame and eventually he gave up all hope of receiving a promotion.

The next day he answered a keyed advertisement in a newspaper, penning a note that he himself agreed was a good one. It evinced confidence, ambition and vision, and he was sure that it would receive a favorable answer.

And it did—from the president of his own company! He was requested to call for an interview, and he shuddered at the thought of the mess into which he had gotten himself. Eventually he got up nerve, marched into the president's office and told his story. The president was impressed to such an extent that he gave the youth the bigger job—and bawled out the department head who had failed to take cognizance of the ambition of the youth.—New York Sun.

Everything Fixed for

Speed in Elopement

The modern Romeo was making arrangements for eloping with his Juliet. "Now, darling," he said, "we'll run over our schedule for the last time. The car will be at the door just before midnight. You understand that?"

"Yes, precious."

"I'll creep round to your window and throw a handful of stones up against it to let you know I'm there. Do you follow me, sweetheart?"

"Absolutely, my own."

"You will then creep downstairs with your suitcase. You'll be quite ready with it when I arrive, won't you?"

She nodded.

"Quite, dearest," she replied. "Mother is packing it for me now!"

Martyr

Since Chief of Motor Vehicles Shook started the fad, California has gone questionaire crazy. They have them for everything anyone can think of. In Fresno, it was thought to be a good idea to acquaint the children with the traffic rules, especially the rights of motorists and those of pedestrians. Naturally one question was:

"What is a pedestrian?"

To this question a girl gave the answer:

"A pedestrian is a girl who won't neck."

Armored Fighters Get

Over Ground in Hurry

A "greyhound" army tank that charges over sand dunes and plowed fields at 40 miles an hour and streaks down highways at a mile a minute is the latest addition to the fighting strength of the United States. The speedy war machine, which carries three men, passes the ordinary tank as though the latter were standing still and gets under way before the more unwieldy machines of the past begin to move, says Popular Science Monthly.

The spectacular new tank showed what it can do recently in tests conducted before army officers at Camp Meade, Md. Over rough ground, its caterpillar treads carried it at 42.55 miles an hour. When the treads were removed, the armored fighter, running on wheels, was clocked over a trial course at 60 miles an hour. The machine, which was designed by J. Walter Christie, an armament expert, is about two-thirds the size of the average army tank. It is intended, its inventor point out, for quick smashing surprise attacks upon enemy lines rather than for heavy combat work.

Old Lady's Bright Idea

as to Mending Methods

The brilliant Dean Howard Chandler Robinson, who has resigned his office in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, said the other day at a luncheon in New York:

"When a marriage fails it often happens that both contracting parties are to blame."

"A young wife consulted an old lady about her husband. He was drinking, she said, and gambling, and flirting, and what not."

"The old lady listened rather quizzically, for she knew that the young wife herself had rather a name for daring frocks and cack-tail parties and general all-round neglect of the home."

"Oh, dear!" So the lamentation went on. "Oh, dear, if I could only mend Jim's ways!"

"To mend his ways," said the quizzical old lady, "the best beginning would be to mend his socks."—Detroit Free Press.

Deception

Mabel Walker Willebrandt, although doing man's work, often proves that there is very little of the masculine to her life and her logic. She is as thoroughly feminine as her sisters of the kitchen and the sewing circle. At a luncheon not so very long ago she said:

"It's a wise woman who makes her husband feel he is the head of the house when he is only chairman of the entertainment committee."—Exchange.

FAMILY DOCTOR LEARNED THIS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

Dr. Caldwell loved people. His years of practice convinced him many were ruining their health by careless selection of laxatives. He determined to write a harmless prescription which would get at the cause of constipation, and correct it.

Today, the prescription he wrote in 1885 is the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness and lack of appetite or energy showed the bowels of men, women and children were sluggish. It proved successful in even the most obstinate cases; old folks liked it for it never gripes; children liked its pleasant taste. All drugstores today have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in bottles.

Efficiency for Pie Makers

Efficiency has invaded the kitchens of Germany, and Dr. Max Meagerlinghausen, styling himself a "household engineer," has eliminated waste motions in pie making. He placed a small lamp on the wrist of a woman while she was preparing the pastry like mother did it. A camera recorded every movement of the woman's wrist in line on a photographic plate. When these were studied they revealed the different motions necessary for the operation, and suggested how more convenient kitchen equipment and better organization of the work might reduce the fatigue involved in kitchen labor.

Women Now Find It Easy To Bake Prize Bread and Pastry

WOMEN all over the country are now saying: "No longer is there need for worry about baking results. Now you can be sure of success with pies and cakes, bread and biscuits."

They use a new-type flour for all baking purposes—GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour that simplifies baking remarkably and banishes the cause of most baking failures.

Failures, experts found, were mostly due to the fact that 2 sacks of the same flour often acted differently, even with the same recipe... it was not uniform in oven action.

So now all GOLD MEDAL Flour is "Kitchen-tested" before it comes to you. As each batch comes through the mill it is tested by actual baking—bread, cakes, biscuits, pastries—in an oven just like yours. Only flour which acts the same perfect way every time is allowed to go out to you. Thus you know in advance exactly what your results will be.
